Introduction

This case was argued and submitted on December 4, 2006. On December 20, 2006, the President signed into law the Tax Relief and Health Care Act of 2006 (hereinafter: the “new legislation”). Pub. L. No. 109-___ (H.R. 6111, 109th Cong.) (2006).^{1/} The new legislation contains provisions pertaining to the All-American Canal Lining Project, the project challenged in this appeal. Id., Div. C, §§ 395-397 (Title III, Subtitle J) (attached). Among other things, Section 395(a) provides that Notwithstanding any other provision of law, upon the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary [of the Interior] shall, without delay, carry out the All American Canal Lining Project identified – (1) as the preferred alternative in the record of decision for that project, dated July 29, 1994; and (2) in the allocation agreement allocating water from the All American Canal Lining Project, entered into as of October 10, 2003.

Id., § 395(a) (emphasis added). Under this provision, the Secretary immediately must carry out the Lining Project, notwithstanding the statutory violations alleged by Plaintiffs-Appellants Consejo de Desarrollo Economico et al. (collectively “CDEM”) in Counts 5-8 of their First Amended Complaint. Defendants-Appellees the United States, the Secretary of the Interior, and the Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation (collectively, the “United States”) therefore

^{1/}At the time this motion was completed, a public law number had not yet been assigned to the new legislation. The United States will provide the Court with the public law number when it becomes available. The complete text of the enacted bill is available at <http://thomas.loc.gov/cgi-bin/bdquery/z?d109:h.r.06111>:

respectfully ask this Court: (1) to summarily deny CDEM's appeal on Counts 5-8 and remand those Counts to the district court for dismissal on grounds of mootness; and (2) to immediately vacate the injunction pending appeal, which was entered solely on the basis of violations alleged in Count 5 (relating to the National Environmental Policy Act or NEPA).

Background

The Bureau of Reclamation ("Reclamation") approved the All-American Canal Lining Project by Record of Decision ("ROD") executed on July 29, 1994.^{2/} 3ER 604. As explained in the Answering Brief for the United States (Oct. 20, 2006) (hereinafter "U.S. Br.") (pp. 19-20), Reclamation did not immediately proceed with Project implementation due to the need to obtain non-federal funding from participating California Contractors, a task complicated by longstanding disputes between California users regarding rights and priorities to California's share of Colorado River water (including water to be conserved by the Lining Project).

^{2/}The Answering Brief for the United States (pp. 18-19) inadvertently identified the project approval date as "May 1994," the date on the front of the ROD (3ER 595) as opposed to the date of execution (3ER 593, 604). "ER" citations are to the Excerpts of Record (Sept. 13, 2006) filed by Plaintiffs-Appellants CDEM et al.

On October 10, 2003, the United States, various California users^{3/} and the San Luis Rey Bands of Mission Indians^{4/} entered into an “Allocation Agreement” that, among other things, allocated the water to be conserved by the All-American Canal Lining Project.^{5/} 1SER(IID) 135-210. Following the execution of the Allocation Agreement and related agreements, the California legislature approved funding necessary to enable the Lining Project to proceed. See U.S. Br. at 20.

In Counts 5-8 of its First Amended Complaint, CDEM contends that the United States cannot lawfully proceed with the Lining Project approved in the 1994 ROD and referenced in the 2003 Allocation Agreement unless and until Reclamation: (1) completes a Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (“SEIS”) under Section 102(2)(C) of NEPA (42 U.S.C. § 4332(2)(C)); (2) re-initiates and completes consultation under Section 7 of the Endangered Species

^{3/}The California parties to the Allocation Agreement are intervenor defendants/appellees Imperial Irrigation District (“IID”) and San Diego County Water Authority (“SDCWA”), and the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California (“Metropolitan”), the Coachella Valley Water District, the City of Escondido, and the Vista Irrigation District.

^{4/}The Bands are the La Jolla, Pala, Pauma, Rincon, and San Pasqual Bands.

^{5/}The Allocation Agreement defines the “All-American Canal Lining Project” as that portion of the work authorized in Title II of Public Law 100-675 “which will result in a lined All-American Canal from one mile west of Pilot Knob to Drop 3.” 1SER(IID) 140. This is the preferred alternative approved in the 1994 ROD. 3ER 595-96. “SER(IID)” refers to the Supplemental Excerpts of Record (October 20, 2006) filed by Intervenor Defendants-Appellees IID and the Central Arizona Water Conservation District.

Act (16 U.S.C. § 1536); and (3) takes other measures allegedly required for compliance with the Migratory Bird Treaty Act (“MBTA”) and the San Luis Rey Indian Water Rights Settlement Act (“SLRA”). The district court rejected these arguments by final judgment entered on July 3, 2006 (2ER 541-2) and this appeal followed. On August 10, 2006, CDEM filed a motion for injunction pending appeal, predicated solely on the alleged NEPA violations. By order dated August 24, 2006, this Court granted that motion without discussion.

Argument

A. Counts 5-8 Are Moot

An action is moot and no longer subject to the jurisdiction of the courts if, as a result of a change in law during the course of litigation, the courts no longer can grant effective relief. Cook Inlet Treaty Tribes v. Shalala, 166 F.3d 986, 989 (9th Cir. 1999); Sierra Club v. United States Forest Serv., 93 F.3d 610, 614 (9th Cir. 1996). In the present case, Section 395 of the new legislation forecloses the possibility of injunctive relief on Counts 5-8.⁹

Section 395(a) directs the Secretary to proceed with the Lining Project “without delay” and “notwithstanding any other provision of law.” Pub. L. No. 109-___ (H.R. 6111), Div. C, § 395(a). The import of this directive is plain. To the extent that implementation of the Lining Project conflicts with “any other ⁹Counts 5-8 are all premised on the Administrative Procedure Act, which does not provide any action for damages. See 5 U.S.C. §§ 702, 706.

provision of law” – e.g., any provision of NEPA, the ESA, the MBTA, or the SLRA – Congress has declared the Project exempt from those provisions and directed the Secretary to proceed.

There is no question that Congress has the authority to exempt specific projects from the general requirements of NEPA, the ESA, and similar statutes. See, e.g., Robertson v. Seattle Audubon Soc., 503 U.S. 429, 437-38 (1992) (recognizing project-specific exemption from provisions of MBTA, NEPA and other statutes); Sierra Club, 93 F.3d at 614 (recognizing exemption from NEPA requirements); Mt. Graham Coalition v. Thomas, 89 F.3d 554, 556-58 (9th Cir. 1996) and Mt. Graham Red Squirrel v. Madigan, 954 F.2d 1441, 1457-61 (9th Cir. 1993) (recognizing exemptions from NEPA and ESA requirements).

Nor can there be any doubt that Congress intended such an exemption for the Lining Project. There are two critical provisions in Section 395(a). First, Congress mandated that the Secretary “shall . . . carry out” the Lining Project “without delay” “upon the date of enactment of this Act.” Pub. L. No. 109- ____ (H.R. 6111), Div. C, § 395(a). This Court addressed a nearly identical directive in Westlands Water District v. United States Dept. of the Interior, 43 F.3d 457 (9th Cir. 1994). In that case, this Court held that statutory language directing Reclamation to effect a new water allocation “upon enactment of this title” was the equivalent of directing “immediate” action and presented an “irreconcilable conflict” with NEPA’s procedural obligations (which require months or years to complete). Id. at 460-62. Given the irreconcilable conflict, this Court determined that the NEPA provisions did not apply. Id.

Second, even without the language mandating implementation of the Lining Project “without delay,” the other terms of Section 395 would provide an exemption from NEPA and other statutes. Section 395 authorizes implementation of the Lining Project “notwithstanding any other provision of law.” Pub. L. No. 109- ____ (H.R. 6111), Div. C, § 395(a). The provisions of NEPA, the ESA, the MBTA, and the SLRA upon which CDEM relies in Counts 5-8 are “other provision[s] of law.” Because the Secretary must – and therefore may – carry out the Lining Project “notwithstanding” these “other provision[s],” this Court cannot compel the Secretary to comply with such provisions (should this Court determine a conflict to exist) before or in lieu of implementing the Lining Project. See Sierra Club, 93 F.3d at 614 (reading identical phrase as exempting project from NEPA requirements).

Finally, the fact that Congress enacted Section 395 during the pendency of the present litigation does not alter the legislation’s effect. See Robertson, 503 U.S. at 439. While constitutional (separation of powers) concerns might arise if Congress acts to overturn judicial findings, no such concerns arise where Congress acts to moot ongoing litigation through a statutory amendment or change in law.⁷¹

Id.; Cook Inlet Treaty Tribes, 166 F.3d at 991; Mt. Graham Coalition, 89 F.3d at 557. As Judge Noonan noted in his concurring opinion in Mt. Graham Coalition, “there is no question that Congress has the power to change the law so as to deprive an injunction of further effect.” Id., 89 F.3d at 559 (Noonan, J., concurring); see also Stop H-3 Ass'n v. Dole, 870 F.2d 1419, 1431 (9th Cir. 1989) (stating that there is “nothing illegitimate about a decision to enact legislation exempting a particular project, the subject of pending litigation, from the requirements of existing statutes”). Here, Congress has permissibly exercised its power to change the law to enable the Lining Project to proceed, notwithstanding alleged violations of NEPA, the ESA, MBTA, and SLRA.

B. There Is No Basis for Continuing the Injunction Pending Appeal

Because Counts 5-8 are moot, there is no basis for continuing the injunction pending appeal. Although the present appeal involves constitutional claims by CDEM (relating to Counts 1-4 of the First Amended Complaint) that are not rendered moot by the new legislation,⁸ CDEM did not rely on those claims in its Gray v. First Winthrop Corp., 989 F.2d 1564, 1568 (9th Cir. 1993)) (emphasis added); accord Cook Inlet Treaty Tribes, 166 F.3d at 991.

⁸Congress cannot by ordinary legislation abrogate constitutional rights, if any, that CDEM might possess. On the other hand, the Congressional directive in Section 395 to conserve the seepage water from the All-American Canal (Pub. L. No. 109-___ (H.R. 6111), Div. C, § 395) – as well as the provisions in Section 397 regarding the 1944 Treaty (id., § 397) – provide further support for the United States’ argument that CDEM’s water-rights claims in Counts 1-4 present non-justiciable political questions. See U.S. Br. at 31, 47-50; see also n. 11, infra.

Motion for Injunction Pending Appeal (August 10, 2006). Rather, CDEM moved for the injunction pending appeal solely on the grounds of the NEPA claims (asserted in Count 5).²¹ Id. Accordingly, this Court's August 24, 2006 order granting CDEM's motion is likewise predicated solely on the NEPA claims, which are now moot.

Equally important, CDEM's arguments under Counts 1-4 do not provide an alternative basis for injunctive relief. CDEM concedes that Counts 1-4 are predicated on the Takings Clause of the Fifth Amendment. See Consolidated Reply Brief (Oct. 27, 2006) at 12-16. As explained in the United States' Brief (U.S. Br. at 42), the Takings Clause "is designed 'not to limit the governmental interference with property rights per se, but rather to secure compensation in the event of otherwise proper interference amounting to a taking.'" Nevada Land Action Ass'n v. U.S. Forest Service, 8 F.3d 713, 720 (9th Cir. 1993) (quoting Presault v. ICC, 494 U.S. 1, 11 (1990)). This Court has no jurisdiction to enjoin Congressionally authorized action alleged to effect a taking, "where Congress has provided a means for paying compensation for any taking that might have occurred.”^{10/} AK Native Village Corporation v. AHTNA, Inc., 105 F.3d 1281, 1285 (9th Cir. 1997).

²¹While CDEM noted in its motion that all eight counts of the First Amended Complaint were implicated in its appeal, CDEM asserted that "this motion relies just on the NEPA claim." Motion at 4, n. 1.

Through Section 395 of the new legislation (Public Law No. 109-___ (H.R. 6011), Div. C), Congress has reiterated its directive to the Secretary to conserve All-American Canal seepage for beneficial use in the United States (see U.S. Brief at 12-14) and directed the Secretary to proceed “without delay” with the conservation project identified as the preferred alternative in the 1994 ROD. Assuming, arguendo, that such action could somehow be deemed to effect a Fifth Amendment taking within the jurisdiction of U.S. courts,^{11/} CDEM’s exclusive remedy for such taking would be an action for “just compensation” under the ^{10/}CDEM cannot avoid this rule simply by alleging that damages (or the payment of “just compensation”) would be “inadequate” to remedy the alleged taking of alleged property rights in All-American Canal seepage. Just compensation is the exclusive remedy for a taking. See, e.g., Duke Power Co. v. Carolina Environmental Study Group, Inc., 438 U.S. 59, 94 n. 39 (1978) (noting that where a Tucker Act remedy is available, a “constitutional challenge . . . under the Just Compensation Clause must fail.”) The only exception is where Congress simultaneously authorizes a taking and prohibits the payment of just compensation through the removal of the Tucker Act remedy. See Eastern Enterprises v. Apfel 524 U.S. 498, 521-22 (1998) (O’Connor, J., plurality opinion) (finding injunction to be an appropriate remedy where Tucker Act remedy is unavailable).

^{11/}As explained in the United States’ brief: (1) CDEM does not possess and cannot obtain a property interest in All-American Canal seepage under U.S. law or the 1944 Treaty with Mexico, see U.S. Br. at 35-38; (2) CDEM’s claims to such water cannot be adjudicated by this Court, due to the absence of any applicable waiver of sovereign immunity, and the non-justiciable nature of the claims (under the political-question doctrine), id. at 39-50; and (3) the Fifth Amendment does not reach property interests claimed in Mexico, id. at 41, n.8.

Tucker Act. CDEM has not alleged (and cannot show) that Congress removed the Tucker Act remedy under the SLRA (when authorizing the Lining Project). Nor is there anything in the new legislation that removes the Tucker Act remedy.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the United States respectfully asks this Court to (1) summarily deny CDEM's appeal as to Counts 5-8 of the First Amended Complaint; (2) remand Counts 5-8 to the district court with instructions that the district court dismiss the claims as moot; and (3) immediately vacate the injunction pending appeal, given the absence of any remaining basis for such injunction.
